

The Power of the NOW

3 Questions to live in your now:

1. When is the most important time?
2. Who is the most important person?
3. What is the most important thing to do?

If you find yourself living in the past or the future, asking yourself these 3 Questions keeps you centered and focused on your “NOW” - this is where you have power and impact.

When the world starts to gear back up from this unplanned shutdown, there will be a demand to go and to do, just like we had before. But, what if we go, and do differently?

What will you do different with your now coming out of your current situation?
